To Have Loved And Lost

The one you like,
The one you adore,
Is the person who lights up a room
As they stroll through the door.
With his personality so upbeat,
Life is never a bore.
The way he speaks to you
Makes the nervousness seep from every pore.
You think he's Mr. Wonderful;
Someone you'd do anything for
Because he makes your heart skip a beat
And desire swell in your core.
The one you like,
The one you love,
Seems like God's gift;
A blessing sent from Above.

He's funny and charming,
Handsome as a dove.
Yet, you're so blinded by passion
That it's you he doesn't love.
He goes to another school,
Your precious, beautiful pearl.
The thought of him with another woman
Makes you want to hurl.
Finally, you've had it!
The mental torture makes your brain decay
From the hell you've gone through.
You confront him and shout "Just go away!"
As a born flirt, he doesn't argue
But leaves you with your hurting, aching heart
Just in time for Valentine's Day.
